Capcom's Monster Hunter Freedom 2 receives Grand Award
- Capcom titles receive most awards of any maker at the Japan Game Awards: 2007 -

We at Capcom are proud to announce that "Monster Hunter Freedom 2" has received the esteemed Grand Award as well as the Award for Excellence at the "Japan Game Awards: 2007". The awards program is sponsored by the Computer Entertainment Software Association for the recognition of outstanding titles in computer entertainment software. The awards ceremony was held at this year's Tokyo Game Show which took place from September 20-23.

"Monster Hunter Freedom 2" is a 'hunting action' game that puts the player in the role of a fearless hunter roaming a great expansive world tracking down gigantic fearsome beasts. Players can tackle the adventure alone or join friends over ad-hoc mode for team cooperative action. Since its release, Monster Hunter Freedom 2 has become an extremely popular PSP® title boasting sales of over 1,400,000 copies in Japan since its release in February of this year (as of September 21, 2007).

We are also very proud to announce our newest title in the "Monster Hunter" series, "Monster Hunter Portable 2G". With this title, we will continue to endeavor to bring this exciting series to the ever-increasing audience of Japanese Monster Hunter fans.

In addition to "Okami", "Lost Planet Extreme Condition", which sold more than a million copies in U.S. and Europe, also received the Award for Excellence in the Games of the Year Division; while Dead Rising was recognized for its extraordinary global impact with the Global Award."Devil May Cry 4" , "Sengoku BASARA 2 HEROES" and "Zack & Wiki: Quest for Barbaros' Treasure" were chosen by Tokyo Game Show attendees as the recipients of the illustrious Future Award, accenting the high anticipation users have for Capcom products.

As always, Capcom will continue to strive to bring quality products to an ever-increasing number of video game players around the world.
